

To FCC Commissioners:

My family of 9 (see email address--7 kids from 17 to 11) have been loyal listeners of Air1 radio (107.1) for the last three years--ever since we moved to Lubbock, TX. This station has so positively impacted our Christian walk both individually and as a family that we have also been contributors to the station almost that entire time -- changing our commitment from one hour a month to two hours a month this past pledge drive. Having such a bright spot on the local radio dial is the one thing I can still do to continue to impact my kids and give them a viable alternative to the music they are bombarded with everywhere else they go. My kids have used Air1 as a witnessing tool to their friends in school, & at least one young man has had his drastically altered through listening to Air1 (a paraphrase of his words to my wife & I).

Please do NOT allow a LPFM broadcaster to interrupt this vital support to both the Christians & non-Christians in our local community...especially one that doesn't have the same family-friendly programming my kids need so desperately in this critical time in their lives. Trust me--I wouldn't be sending $64 per month to support something with 9 mouths to feed if I didn't feel that Air1's unique programming format had such a tremendous influence within the community -- both the youth & the adults. Not a day goes by that I don't see Air1 bumper stickers and hear other cars playing the same station...something my kids reiterate when they talk about what they did in school today. Some teachers at the various levels of local public school allow radio into the classroom during study periods...invariably Air1 is picked at least once a week by the students -- teachers DO NOT vote for fear of being accused of unduly influencing the students.

Thank you for your time concerning this matter of vital importance to us as a family and as a community.
